D. COMMISSIONER COMMENTS:

1. Commissioner Froerer: I think we've all experienced a week of turmoil and distress based upon the events that happened in Utah County that most of us never expected to happen. I think it was very well said by our governor that, "We have an opportunity to really head down two paths. One of those would be to tone down the political rhetoric. Stop placing blame on political party or political individuals that may not necessarily agree with you in your day-to-day activities." So I think it's important to realize that regardless of what our president says, what our governor says, it's up to each of us as individuals to make the decision to either operate within the parameters of civility and kindness or we go the other way. And I would hope that some of us may have had a wakeup call with this and take that path forward. I want to share a post made by a friend of mine from central Utah, Tammy Reddoor, that I think makes a lot of sense. She says in part of her statement, "May we always remember our breath is a gift, our agency is a trust, and our legacy is built not by division but by love." So I would hope that we can take the lessons learned over this past week and put those to better use throughout our communities, our state and our country.
